Grab your passport and pack because we are going to travel the world on an academic adventure! Join 1st grade teachers Claire Spiro and Allison Jones in a fun academic camp to get ready for 2nd grade. Aiming to reflect Voyager's philosophy of project based learning, students will refresh their reading, writing, and math skills while exploring different countries around the globe. Each day students will hop on a plane and "travel" to a different country - learning about their different cultures and doing a craft from the region- all the while practicing their academic skills. Each day we will end with a fun, STEM-based experiment. This camp will be the perfect combination of grade appropriate academic review and fun exploration. Open to all rising 2nd graders.
